Claims 1, 9, 11, 22, and 24, and the claims dependent thereon, are allowable since the prior art fails to disclose or render obvious a method of providing a textile with a stonewashed effect including steps of attaching to the inside surface of a chamber a plurality of artificial abrasive stones, placing or adding a textile material into the chamber, and moving the chamber, wherein the artificial abrasive stones are made of a heat cured material comprising carbon, silicon, clay, and resin. Claim 15 and the claims dependent thereon are allowable since the prior art fails to disclose or render obvious an apparatus for providing a textile with a stonewashed effect including a plurality of artificial abrasive stones, each having a connector, and a moveable chamber having an inner surface with openings therethrough which receive the stone connectors such that the stones can be attached and easily removed from the chamber, wherein the artificial abrasive stones are made of a heat cured material comprising carbon, silicon, clay, and resin.
